

I think the algorithm will have a lot of trouble with these faces, as the man in the picture is wearing glasses in half of the pictures and isn't in the other half. This way the algorithm recognizes certain same facial characteristics in both the glasses and the glasses picture of this man, leaving it uncertain off classifying this man.